CAPTIVATING

Was the Speech Delivered Last Night by Our Next
Governor.

ENTERTAINING, INSTRUCTIVE

It Was Heard and Appreciated by Several Hundred Voters of City and Vicinity.

MARKED FULLY BY GOOD IDEAS

Several hundred people gathered last evening in Yeiser park, in spite of the coolness of the atmosphere, to hear the speech of General W. S. Taylor, the Republican nominee and next governor of Kentucky. The gathering was marked by the fact that 90 per cent were voters and among the best people of the city and immediate vicinity. The appearance of Mr. Taylor was the signal of cheering, though he was escorted to the park by storch's band and a large number of supporters.

Colonel M. W. La Rue, who is a goodly part of the party within himself, introduced the speaker in a few well-chosen words as the next governor of the state and the crowd applauded the sentiment heartily.

Mr. Taylor manfully acknowledged the prediction and launched his speech with a complimentary reference to the beautiful city it was his pleasure to visit the first time, and the welcome which had been accorded him by the local representatives of the party to which he was proud to belong. The general then took up the national issues of the day and handled them pointedly and with great accuracy the difference of conditions in the four periods embracing Cleveland's two administrations and Harrison and McKinley. Never was a picture more vividly drawn, showing the condition of the country under Mr. Cleveland's two administrations and the wondrous prosperity under Mr. Harrison's and that now existing under Mr. McKinley. Every lack he struck went home, and almost the closing of every sentence was met with applause. He interspersed his speech with happy anecdotes illustrating what he was saying and won much applause by these points.

General Taylor gave considerable attention to state affairs and presented in the most convincing manner the woe of nonmanagement under the Democratic party. He showed how they had deliberately refused to assess the railroad and many other corporations on their franchises. Having completely exposed the running affairs of the state as shown by the books that had been left by the Democrats he then turned to the school affairs of the state and described how for fifteen years the Democratic state administration had permitted five or six cities in this state to take from the school children of the rural districts $100,000 a year. He then showed the effect of the Chinese school book bill; how it was meant to foster upon the people a school book trust and in addition to that the expenses of seven officers who could prepare their own manuscripts and make the people buy the books whether they wanted them or not. He showed how in Indiana under a school law that presented the standard, all excellence of the books had disappeared and $1,400,000 had been paid in the last five years while Kentucky had only paid $750,000. He said the school book bill was but another scheme to control Kentucky by commissions, another step to centralize power. He predicted the cheap school book law was intended to fasten on the people another monopoly for the benefit of the Courier-Journal Job Printing company if it were passed.

The speaker turned upon the Goebel election law and held up to the ridicule of the audience the attempts of the Goebels to dodge this vital question. He compared them to vampires that would try to fasten the fetters of political slavery upon the people while they fanned them to sleep with their bat-like wings. His elucidation of the law, when explaining its base treachery to the people, was alarming and every thrust was a strong one. He warned the people of the enforcement of this inquiry and told them they owed it to themselves to defeat its advocates and defenders, predicting they would see the day should they neglect this duty to themselves and the state.

The general took up every issue of the campaign and met and discussed them. He dealt in no personalities, yet he struck no duty as a gentleman canvassing for a cause found it proper to consider. He talked earnestly for something upwards of an hour and a half and held his hearers throughout the time and at the close of his address was heartily congratulated by many.

General Taylor went from here to Mayfield, where he spoke this afternoon. From Mayfield he goes to Clinton to speak tomorrow, and Monday will be in Wickliffe. This last appointment will close his tour of the Purchase for the time, but he expects to come again later.

ATTACKING REBELS

Cause a Brush Near Angeles. P.
I, This Morning.

Two Americans are Killed and Six Wounded—The Insurgents are Routed.

MANILA, P. I., Sept. 22.—A small party of insurgents ditched a train near Angeles this morning and from a bandolier-thicket opened fire on the American soldiers on the derailed cars. Two Americans were killed and five wounded. Lieutenant Lomo, who escaped injury, attacked the enemy and forced them to flee. Six rebels were killed. Six companies from Calicut, under command of General Wheaton, went to the relief of the Americans on the train, but arrived after the rebels had been dispersed.

A presentation of unusual magnitude is promised when Lewis Morrison's "Faust" makes its final appearance here at Morton's opera house next Tuesday evening, September 26. We are assured that the scene is entirely new and the electric embellishments more startling and surprising than ever. The costumes will be on a scale of grandeur seldom heretofore witnessed and the company presenting this masterpiece is this season exceptionally strong.

MYERS REPORTED CAUGHT.

It was reported this morning that J. F. Myers, the man charged with stealing $1,000 from Mr. G. W. Duggan, had been captured, but the report was doubtless false, as no one at Murray knew anything about it. The detectives have been at work trying to trace him for several days, but thus far without success.

CABINET HAS SO DECIDED

There is, However, Only the One Opinion That War Will Follow in Due Time

MUCH INTERESTED MANIFESTED

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Downing street was filled with people today eager to catch a glimpse of the ministers as they arrived at the cabinet session. The crowd cheered all the ministers as they drove up to the foreign office, but the greatest interest was shown at the arrival of the Marquis Lansdowne, secretary of the state for war and having charge of the plans for mobilization. Mr. Chamberlain, the colonial secretary, also received an ovation, while the entrance of Sir Ralph Knox, the permanent secretary of the war office, was regarded significant.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—It is stated the cabinet has decided not to take immediate action on the Transvaal's latest note.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—At the meeting of the cabinet the Boers' reply and the correspondence between the government and Stein, of the Orange Free State, were considered in detail. It was finally decided to send another message to Kruger. Lord Wolsey, the commander of the British army, the Hon. Henry Buller, who will command the South African forces in the field, and others called at the war office immediately after the meeting.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The leading financiers are convinced that war is inevitable, since neither Chamberlain nor Kruger can now retreat with honor. The commonest expression heard in Lombard street is that each side has gone too far to retreat. An experienced banker remarked today that England is only waiting till all reinforcements are ashore and the Boers only waiting for rain, which will give water and grass for their cavalry on Veldt, and that in the course of six weeks there will be a quick three weeks' campaign.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—It is officially announced that Sir Rogers Bulwer, who will command the British forces in South Africa, will go to South Africa not immediately but eventually. The announcement is probably one of the results of the cabinet meeting. It indicates the whole crisis is postponed. England is preparing for eventualities.

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 22.—The steamer Pandua, with remainder of the Nineteenth Hussars and some cavalry and brigade staff, sailed today for Natal.

ALLAHABAD, Sept. 22.—The Pioneer says England has arranged with Portugal to take possession of Delagoa bay October 1.

COMMISSIONERS

State Board's Work Viewed by a Democratic Journal.

An Inquiry Which Disgraces and Should Condemn the Party in Control.

LEXINGTON, Sept. 22.—Yesterday's Herald, the staunchest Democratic paper in the Blue Grass section, thus considers the work of the state board of election commissioners:

"Kentucky has not yet become accustomed to the extraordinary transaction which will take place in its capital today. Liberty is not lost and the clangor of arms and shock of battle—these are the mere means resorted to by her enemies, her fate has been usually decided in cabinet meetings—in secret consultations; in closet councils. Kings or tyrants, usurpers or traitors conspire in quiet chambers and forge the chains which are to be put upon the limbs of the free. Ordinarily the scheme has the forms of law and the plea of necessity and of the defense of the rights of the people, and the assault is in the name of the people and of their liberties. Today in Frankfort the first triumvirate assembles, under the pretext of protection to the ballot box and in the name of free suffrage to appoint 119 subordinate triumvirs to control the entire election machinery of the state. These officers were never candidates before the people; they were not selected by the people whose most sacred rights they will today put in jeopardy; they hold an office unanointed and unknown to the constitution of the state; they exercise without responsibility a new and an absolutely despotic power. Sitting in Frankfort they assume to select three commissioners in each county. Of course they don't know enough men in some of these counties to knowingly select intelligently perform this tremendous and delicate duty. They must therefore depend upon others for the required information; that is doubles the danger. It is in fact as to most of the counties the mere registering tools of others who in secret consultation select the commissioners who are nominally appointed by the triumvirs. So that whatever little responsibility for selection may exist is lost by the very necessity for obtaining information from those who are deeply interested in the selection of partisan, unfit and corrupt local commissioners. After over one hundred years of free local self government, Kentucky is turned over to these three irresponsible commissioners who meet in the capital to ratify and announce the selections already made for them by him who commands the local committees.

Judge Pryor and Capt. Ellis are citizens who have held the confidence and enjoyed the esteem of the state; and deserved both. They did their state infinite harm by dignifying by the respectability of their names and character this iniquitous law. Judge Pryor most unfortunately has never explained to Kentucky exactly what his connection was with the infamous Trimble-Marshall appointment, and he has startled the state by his announcement that he will not select a single Democrat who is not for the Louisville ticket. And some of the selections announced last year gave a bad taste. The acts of Mr. Poyntz as a member of the committee on credentials, and his open betting upon the election of Mr. Goebel, which in substance is a bet that his pecuniary benefit have convinced the state that Mr. Poyntz understands fully why he was chosen and intends to justify the confidence reposed in him. But there has been—there remains—a far different sentiment as to Judge Pryor and Capt. Ellis. But it is in the very nature of the case impossible for these gentlemen to perform their assigned duty without making some selections wholly unfit; it is impossible for them not to accept recommendations of the local partisans, and as these partisans are without responsibility and are deeply and personally interested in securing tools to make his local schemes successful, it is certain that those recommended will be in numerous instances men not fit for such an office.

"We have no doubt that many of the appointees will be gentlemen of character and standing; many excellent gentlemen. But in the selected counties and cities, the selections will be most skillfully chosen to accomplish the desired end.

"The worst government possible is a nominal democracy governed by a despotic chief. Caesar devised the triumvirate, which was followed by the plebeian; and the worst emperors were elected by untold majorities. Napoleon merely imitated the Roman usurpers. In France, in Mexico, in the South American Republics exist universal suffrage and elections are peaceful, frequent and legal. This is the system which is illustrated by the meeting in Frankfort today. Those three gentlemen selected nominally by a legislative caucus but in reality by secret consultations in which were those who are now claiming to be nominees of the Louisville convention, represent in concrete form this old world system of a plebeian; a mere simulacrum of free suffrage; a sham form of liberty; a cynic masquerading as a queen.

"We would not trust George Washington, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson with such mighty and irresponsible powers; no man that ever lived could or ought to be trusted with unlimited power over the suffrages of a free people.

"It would make a curious and intensely interesting publication if the recommendations submitted to that board and its members were published; it would be still more important and interesting if the private consultations of the board could be stenographically taken down and made public. When Jefferson county is reached does any one suppose that Mr. Poyntz will anxiously inquire of his colleagues who are the very best three men who can be obtained; that Judge Pryor who is well acquainted in Louisville, will respond by submitting a dozen names of eminent citizens, like Judge Barr, Alex. Humphrey, Judge Richards, General Castlemen, Mr. Kendrick, Belknap, Robinson or others like these; and Captain Ellis add to the list any of his old Confederate comrades or business men like Hector Loving, Atilla Cox, Stiles; and can any one imagine these three gentlemen carefully, cautiously considering the names thus suggested so that the three very best men may be chosen. Does not every one know that the local commissioners in the important counties have been already selected, and that there only remains the mere formality of announcing the names and technically making the required entries?

"If any artist desired to represent the sovereignty of Kentucky as it is exercised today he might well content himself with painting these three gentlemen in their small room in Frankfort, sitting around the table as if in consultation, but with the portrait of William Goebel standing before them with a roll upon which are inscribed the names of three hundred and fifty-seven chosen local commissioners.

"The single issue in November is, shall this be a perpetually the sovereignty of Kentucky?"

New York Has Begun to Put on Furbelows.

In Preparation for the Coming of the Manila Hero on the 28th Inst.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The city has begun its active preparations for the Dewey reception. The decorations are beginning to burst forth. The Bowery is leading the way. It is already gay with flags, bunting and pictures of Dewey. The Bowery florists have worked red, white and blue flowers into a big motto reading, "Gladly, you may fire when you are ready." The advance guard of the visitors is here. Thousands are coming daily. The houses which make a specialty of selling articles to street hawkers are working night and day turning out Dewey novelties.

FIVE YEARS EACH.

Frank Minor and Howard Johnson Convicted This Morning.

Frank Minor and Howard Johnson, the negroes charged with maliciously cutting Robert Wilson, an aged colored man, were this morning adjudged guilty in the circuit court and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

The case against Pete Griffin, charged with stealing Dr. J. Q. Taylor's fine shot gun, was continued until December.

All the bawdy house keepers were fined $50 and costs.

Rex Spaulding by confession was fined $25 for maintaining a nuisance. The case against Dave Banks, a half mixed negro charged with detaining a girl named Sayre, was then placed on trial. She is a white woman of Mechanicsburg, and Banks had been away from the city five or six years when arrested.

Vandora Wells pleaded guilty to robbery and was given one year.

The case against Richard Long, colored, for grand larceny, was on trial at press time.

The jury in the Banks case gave him two years. Banks is regarded by a great many as half crazy.

Court adjourns tomorrow. The grand jury will adjourn tomorrow after having been in session three weeks. It would doubtless remain in session longer if court did not adjourn.

Ed. Elrod, arrested last week on a charge of taking $100 from a man named Edwards, of Ballard county, has not been indicted, owing to the inability of the jury to get the witnesses here. Some reside in Ballard county, and have not come to testify.

ELEVATOR WOULDN'T BUDGE.

Yesterday afternoon late the elevator in the government building stopped midway between two floors with three ladies and the conductor aboard. After some delay it was found that a switch in the basement had been moved in such a manner as to stop the big cage. As soon as it was replaced the elevator resumed its runs.

- Superintendent of Public Instruction, JOHN BURKE, Of Campbell County.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1899.

The people who heard Gen. Taylor's speech in Yelverton last evening were in no wise disappointed. It was a sound, logical talk, fully in keeping with the mind and character of the nominee. There were no false statements, no personalities, no coarse allusions, a marked contrast to the majority of the other campaign speeches heard here. The gathering which heard him were entertained and instructed and their liberal applause evinced the fact clearly that they endorsed the speech. Gen. Taylor's election as governor of the state will redound to the good of the people, and that he is to be elected is a matter of congratulation.

A convention to consider the construction of a deep waterway between the Mississippi and the great lakes, by way of the Illinois river, will be held at Peoria, October 10.

During Cleveland's last administration the foreign exports of the United States averaged $67,000,000 a month. Thus far during McKinley's term the average has been $92,000,000 a month.

The Dreyfus pardon is a striking proof of the fact that no cabal, no interest, and no country can long resist the intelligently formed and conspicuously voiced public opinion of the world.

The proposed honest election league will do much towards saving Kentucky from great disgrace and perhaps much bloodshed. Let the league be organized for the double good indicated in these few lines.

The color line which has suddenly revealed itself in Cuban politics raises an issue which may be relied upon to aid the movement for annexation which is gaining strength every day in the island.

Clay street is sprinkled frequently, by the city, presumably to prevent the wind from blowing away the $700 worth of gravel placed on four blocks of it. The street roller put in six hard days work on it and still the gravel, it is said, does not cement.

The cool weather has had one good effect on the state canvass. It has compelled the "Kenton statesman" to wear his coat when addressing his hearers, the ladies especially. It is not an ill wind which thus compels Mr. Goebel to be dignified to the extent named.

The Goebellites are claiming the silent vote but they are reckoning without knowledge. This is the very vote which will give the Kenton statesman his death blow. Here as everywhere else the noisy vote is for Goebel and the silent vote for Taylor and Brown.

A gentleman heard that the Lang men were betting 2 to 1 on Goebel and this morning went around to a Lang headquarters and produced a roll of money he got off the pay car yesterday. He planned the money down as if he meant business, but the champions of Goebel declined to bet but fifty cents on the dollar.

It is probable that Mr. Harry G. Tandy will resign the position of election commissioner to which he was appointed yesterday, or decline it, which will amount to the same thing. Mr. Tandy is virtually a candidate, as he expects office under the Goebel administration, and it would not be right for him to sit on his own case, as it were. It was a direct reflection to appoint him, in the first place, under the circumstances.

The Owensboro Messenger up to its issue of yesterday had failed to refer to the interview of Captain Stone of last week, in which interview Mr. Woolson, the proprietor and editor of the Messenger, was charged by the captain with treachery, deceit, and also with lying. The people are somewhat surprised that Mr. Woolson with so much the advantage in the case seems disposed to rest under the charges brought by the captain. But perhaps Mr. Woolson is like the little boy.

The Hopkinsville News Era puts the question thus—a most ridiculous one: "Now, honestly, whether you like Goebel or not, wouldn't you rather have him for governor than the L. and N?" If the election of either was probable the answer of every man of brains to the nonsensical query would be: Give us the L. and N.; that would mean continued prosperity for the L. and N. is an enterprising company, which employs many most worthy people and distributes much money in the way of salaries, is not caring to rob the people of their suffrage that a clique may steal the offices and fitch from the taxpayers, and is not going about the state threatening to run from its confines institutions which it cannot control, and slandering and then murdering. The answer would seriously be never give us Goebel, with his political perfidy, his slanderous tongue, his cold heart, his justice, his hatred, his jealousy and last but not least, his rule or ruin disposition, for the people are not all hide-bound partisans, who would rather vote for a yellow dog nominee without principles than a man with principles for men rather than measures, certainly not. But the next governor of Kentucky will be General Taylor, so why ask such a question at all.

For a time, the sense of fair play and the inborn belief that justice is the right of every citizen, without regard to his calling, will eventually right the wrong. But now there is an attempt made to take the ballot from him in common with every Kentuckian, and with the going of the ballot the one legal weapon of the Kentucky workman is gone.

"Of what use are forms of law when the substance of justice is taken away? This Goebel election law has all the outward forms of right, but when it is examined what is found? That the final and uncontrolled exercise of power is vested in three men, not chosen by the people and not responsible to the people, and who were elected by the very legislature which enacted the iniquitous measure. American workmen cannot stand for any such law as the Goebel election law, and Kentucky workmen are as their brothers in other states. What has been done in Kentucky will be done in other states, and the success of the working of the Goebel election law in November will be followed by similar enactments in other states until the exercise of the right of suffrage will be a screaming farce."

Let this be repeated at every gathering of laboring men:

"American workmen cannot stand for any such law as this Goebel law."

The state seems as threatening to the vital issues involved in this campaign; awakening to the fact that all that freedom hold dear is involved in this campaign. Major Johnston, who led the Democrats in 1896 and again in 1897, says with great force in his recent address:

"It would be puerile to divide about gold and silver while you are being stripped of the dignity that belongs to every citizen of a free country. The time is on when you must stand unflinchingly for your liberties and your manhood. Tolerate no more in your midst who boasts openly, or by insinuation, his willingness to steal an election, and let it be understood that any man who commits such a crime does it at his peril."

That, after all, is the watchword of the campaign, a free and untrammeled ballot. Fraudulent primaries, fraudulent conventions, a campaign of falsehood and false pretense, all low fast on a legislative crime such as is the Goebel election law. Let us redeem the ballot, for in so doing we save the party and redeem the state.

"Let it be understood that any man who steals an election does it at his peril."

Hon. Phil B. Thompson, Sr., the first who has investigated the question, declares the Goebel election law did not pass the legislature in a legal way and therefore is not binding on the people. The question is raised by a jurist whose assertion is worthy of consideration and the matter should get into the courts, in some way, without delay. The inquiry should be defeated, if it be possible.

Why should the formation of a plot rust cause so much objection? The ordinary plot surely calls for much rusting on the part of the eater, even though he be a "hobo."

Says the Breckinridge News: "What Goebel and Woodson did to Stone was a plenty to kill the whole layout and the Democratic party as well." So think all of us.

The two Belmonts deny that they have "any affiliation with the demagogue and Populism which are now trying to rule and did rule our party in 1896."

The hope felt in administration circles that the campaign in the Philippines may be reopened before the end of October may be disappointed.

It is stated that the late Cornelius Vanderbilt cast his vote at every election. He was an American citizen in fact.

A SUGGESTIVE SONG.

Is the hat being passed for the benefit of the Leader, as the Sun requested a few days since. It would seem not, for its very mouth waters when it thinks of the L. and N. "handouts" of which it prates often, and the "hats" for which it longs no doubt. Yesterday it sang this suggestive song to its readers:

"Mr. Hanna evidently regards Mr. McLean's bar'l with calm contempt. He says that all the money that McLean puts out will be a waste pure and simple. We take Mr. Hanna seriously on a question of bottle. He's got the trusts and combines of Ohio to fall back on, besides the surplus left over from the national campaign fund. Moreover, Mr. Hanna is in some touch with the various and sundry combines of New Jersey, and when he touches the button they come to the front."

"The campaign in Ohio will be a picturesque one, and the immense floating vote of the Buckeye state will reveal in cleaver when Mr. Hanna taps his barrel to effect Mr. McLean's barrel. Meanwhile the campaign in Major McKinley's state waxes warm and furious, and with a fair ballot and an honest count we believe Mr. McLean's barrel will make Mr. Hanna's barrel see all sorts of things before the campaign in Ohio is closed."

FRIDAY, SEPT. 22, 1899.

Why? IS THE QUESTION.

New Haven Echo (Democrat): Why the leaders of Democracy are willing to sacrifice the party for the sake of gratifying a whim of Wm. Goebel is more than we can understand. He cannot be elected governor. He has no claim on the people for support but those steeped in fraud which the people refuse to recognize. His campaign has been one of mistakes. He has aroused antagonism in every form, many of which in themselves are sufficient to defeat him. He cares nothing for the party, if he did he would not continue leading it to defeat. He cares nothing for Bryan, if he did he would not ask him to enter a family quarrel where the outsider always gets ticked. He says he will not withdraw trying to show that he is bigger than the party and a boss of the people from whom he gets his power. You can make him stand aside by withdrawing your support.

REMAINS UNANSWERED.

Louisville Post: "Col. Caldwell's open letter to Mr. Goebel asking for information as to what member of the Italian family was in the penitentiary has not been answered. This reminds us that Capt. Stone's charges of betrayal have also failed to be met, and that Carlisle's statement that Goebel was anxious to carry Kentucky for him and the gold standard in 1896, meets with a silence so very great that it can be heard from one of the state to the other."

THE BALLOT AND THE LABORING MAN.

Louisville Post: In America all men have the right to propose any law for the consideration of their fellow-citizens, leaving the decision to the ballot.

This is alike the safeguard of the oppressed or the distressed and the safety of society.

It follows that to the laboring man the ballot is his chief life-boat. He must guard it with the utmost diligence. He must as firmly oppose the man who would corrupt it as the man who would restrict it or take it from him. He must see that the law establishes it on foundations that cannot be moved and in a position where it cannot be assailed.

Else all pretenses of individual freedom, all assumption that we are a self-governing people become mere sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal.

Monday in its Covington correspondence the Evening Post published an interview with Mr. George H. Thoburn of Covington. In this statement Mr. Thoburn so clearly presents the issue of a free ballot and a fair count that we reproduce it here that we may by repetition give it to added emphasis.

Mr. Thoburn said:

"It is a struggle in which no class is as deeply interested as is the laboring class. The laboring man, the skilled mechanic, the man who works for wages in any line, is the first to feel the effects of business depression and is the last to recover. He is the first to feel the effects of vicious legislation, and he is the last to recover from them. His sole resource is in the ballot."

"The laboring man of this country is patient and long suffering; unlike the laboring man of the old country, he does not rush to revolutionary methods to accomplish his ends. He feels the dignity of American citizenship, and he is willing to suffer, in common with his fellow citizens, because he is an American workman and has confidence that even if he has to suffer for a time, the sense of fair play and the inborn belief that justice is the right of every citizen, without regard to his calling, will eventually right the wrong. But now there is an attempt made to take the ballot from him in common with every Kentuckian, and with the going of the ballot the one legal weapon of the Kentucky workman is gone.

"Of what use are forms of law when the substance of justice is taken away? This Goebel election law has all the outward forms of right, but when it is examined what is found? That the final and uncontrolled exercise of power is vested in three men, not chosen by the people and not responsible to the people, and who were elected by the very legislature which enacted the iniquitous measure. ## RIGHT TO DIE.

Justice Simeon E. Baldwin, of the Connecticut supreme court, in an address on "Man's Natural Right to Death," before the American Social Science association, took the ground that when a person is mortally ill it should be made unlawful for doctors and nurses to step in and prolong his life and agony for a few days.

"Man has a natural right to die," said Judge Baldwin. "When death has set its seal on one, when life has nothing to offer but a prolongation of medical ethics compel doctors to fight for the brief prolongation of the use, less, hopeless life? It should be made illegal for them to do so."

There are diseases which naturally end in a speedy death, but may be so treated as to lead to a protracted state of suffering and weakness incompatible with any enjoyment of life or useful activity.

In uncivilized nations such diseases are of short duration. In civilized nations it has become the pride of many in the medical profession to prolong such lives at any cost of pain to the sufferer.

"The suffering, or at best the lethargic existence, is successfully protracted, but the body will soon function and fall in the unwonted functions forced upon parts of it made for other uses, and death comes, to the relief of the dying and the living alike. To prolong a useless struggle means misery to the patient and profit to no one but the doctor and nurse."

IS HOLDING ON Goebel Prefers a Certainty to an Uncertainty.
With No Chance to be Governor
He Retains the State Senatorship.

William Goebel, although an alleged candidate for governor, has not renounced his hold upon the state senatorship and what is more he does not intend to. There is no law which prevents him from being a candidate for one office while holding another, although he can not hold both of them in the event of his election to the governorship he would have to resign his position as senator.
While there is no law requiring him to resign his position as senator until he has been elected governor, still common decency should prompt him to do so. Such has been the custom with all candidates heretofore.
To run for one office and cling tenaciously to another is a sure indication of expected defeat. If Mr. Goebel is as sure of the governorship as he pretends to be, he would have no hesitation in letting go of the senatorship. But he sees defeat staring him in the face and rather than relinquish all of his political prestige he prefers to cling to the senatorship, hoping thereby to retrieve his lost aureole and redeem himself in the future for the base and cruel treach-ery and deceit practiced in the convention, which he now conceives has perpetrated the Democratic party of Kentucky. He realizes that the abominable and villainous work in that convention will be rebuked at the polls by the decent and honest element of the party and rather than step down to an ignominious defeat and off the face of the earth, so to speak, he prefers to hold on to the senatorship and impose himself still further upon the public.

A man should not aspire to the highest office in the gift of the people of Kentucky without first letting go his hold upon another, and giving the people of his senatorial district chance to name his successor.
Mr. Goebel is not a man to let go of anything. His clinging to an office while running for another demonstrates his grasping and selfish qualities, and when all the state is taking notice of it. It is costing him many votes, and he knows it, but nothing will induce him to let go of a certainty for an uncertainty. He will never be elected governor and no one knows a better man himself. He will retain his seat in the state senate, however, but his prestige will have flown with his race for governor, on a nomination secured by fraud and treachery.
With the serving out of his term in the senate he will be relegated to the rear, never to be heard of again in the politics of Kentucky.

ters the Young Orator.
Earlington Bee, 21st: "Hon. Hal S.
Corbett, of Paducah, spoke at the court house at Madisonville, to an audience of about 175 people, last Friday.
"Mr. J. J. Glenn introduced the distinguished young orator, and he was given quite a round of applause when he appeared before the audience.
"He began his speech by saying that he did not intend to attack the private character of any man, but intended to deal entirely with the issues now confronting the people of the state of Kentucky. His speech from first to last was free from those bitter personal attacks, which characterize the work of so many campaign orators. He dealt in an able manner with state issues from his point of view, and was applauded frequently. He was given close attention, not only by men of his belief, but by men of other parties as well.
"In a gentlemanly manner, he showed the many fallacies of the Goebel election law, his principal argument against it being the tendency toward the centralization of power. He also paid his respects to the Louisville convention and the L. and N. bug-a-boo of the Goebel faction.
"Mr. Corbett is one of the leading orators of his age in the state and has a bright future. If all the campaign craves would put their work upon as high a plain as he, it would not be any great while until politics would be almost entirely free from its present gall and bitterness, until people would look at things in a more charitable light, and until the will of the people would be the highest law."

A LONG RIDE.
The two Marion, Ky., boys, Harry and R. C. Crow, who recently passed through here en route to Texas, made the trip of 600 miles in seven and a half days. Their route after leaving here was to Wickliffe, where they crossed the river, then on through Bird's Point, Malden, Mo., Jonesboro, Bald Knob, Little Rock and Fayetteville, Ark., thence up to Commerce, by the side of the Cotton Belt railroad.
They claim their wheels were in good order when they reached Commerce and that they were also well.

BILL NOT A LAW
Statement by P. B. Thompson, Sr., an Eminent Jurist.

Goebel Act Not Binding on the People—Law Not Compiled
With in Passage.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 22.—The Hon. Phil B. Thompson, Sr., one of the most eminent members of the bar of Kentucky, has published a paper which deals directly with the legislative origin and history of the so-called Goebel election law.
This distinguished lawyer traces the progress of this measure step by step from its introduction to the day it was published as a pretended act binding on the people of Kentucky.
This investigation proves to be most destructive of all the claims based on the passage of this legislative act.
It is proved by this examination that the men in charge of the bill utterly ignored the requirements of the constitution and the rules of the two houses.
In this presentation the examiner does not touch either the motives or the intentions of the gentlemen in charge of this measure. It is not a question of intentions, but of acts.
It is not a question of motives, but of fact. But it calls for an explanation from the managers, which must be based on one of two grounds.
One: It is a piece of legislative juggery, a deliberate violation of the constitution, skillfully planned, in order to get on the statute books a law that could not be placed there if the requirements of the constitution of the state were adhered to.
Summing up his reason for declaring the bill null and void, Mr. Thompson says:
"It is to be approved by the governor. If the governor fails to approve it, it must be passed over his objections.
The enrolled bill does not show the vote, or its passage over the veto. Its failure to show these facts makes resort to the journals absolutely necessary to show them. The journals are the only evidence to show that it was passed over the veto, and the proceedings that took place upon its passage over the veto.
"The contention here is that the enrolled bill shows that it has not the signature of the governor approving it, which signature is necessary to make it a law, unless withheld by the governor under the constitution. It was vetoed, and the enrolled bill shows it.
"The journals show that the senate passed one bill, the house passed another bill, with important and matterial portions left out, and not read.
"The only conclusion at which we can arrive is that the failure upon the part of the house to pass the same, identical bill passed by the senate, with its amendments, is a fatal flaw to comply with the law, and that the bill is not the law."

THE TENT MEETING.
The big tent meeting is now in full blast. Several hundred people were in attendance last night. Rev. I. B.
Johnson preached a strong sermon. The song service was much enjoyed. Services at 4 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m., corner Seventh and Broadway.

LIBERTY NOT SATISFACTION.
PARIS, Sept. 21.—The Aurore publishes the following declaration from "former Captain Dreyfus":
"The government of the republic has given me my liberty. But liberty is nothing to me without honor. From today I shall continue to seek reparation for the frightful judicial error of which I remain the victim.
"I wish France to know by a definitive judgment that I am innocent.
My heart will only be at rest when there remains not a single Frenchman who imputes to me the abominable crime perpetrated by another."

SOLID FOR TAYLOR
Mountains Will Give him a Majority of 20,000.

If Fraud is Attempted Under the Goebel Law it Will be in the Cities.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Sept. 22.— Ex-Congressman John H. Wilson, of Barbourville, who, in conjunction with Congressman Pugh, is at the head of the Republican campaign in the eastern part of the state, is here looking after the interests of the Republicans before the state election commission. Mr. Wilson came here as the special representative of the Republican campaign committee. He says the Republicans of the Eleventh district were never more thoroughly organized than they are this year, and he predicts a majority in that district of at least 20,000 for Taylor. He further said: "I don't think the Goebel law will do them any good in my section, as sentiment there is in both parties is so strong in favor of fair elections that men can not be found who will dare to tamper with the votes as honestly cast. The average voter up there is in favor of hanging people who undertake to tamper with the ballots, and I tell you it would not be healthy for anybody to tackle such a job this time.
I guess if any fraud is attempted it will be in the cities and towns of the state, and for these reasons we will take extra precautions in these places.
I don't think there is any danger of us being robbed just because we propose to follow the general plan all over the state of standing up for our rights and refusing to be run over." Mr. Wilson figures Taylor a winner by not less than 25,000. He thinks Brown will poll at least 20,000 votes, while at least many dissatisfied Democrats will vote for Taylor.

A BIG TIME.
Eight Candidates Initiated Into the Elks Last Night.

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Elks last night and everybody present was glad he was an Elk. The attendance was the largest in many months, and among the members of Paducah lodge were several visitors.

Messrs. John W. Landrum, superintendent of the Mayfield Water company, Henry D. Hale, of the bank at Mayfield, H. C. Neale, of the Illinois Central agent at Mayfield; Herman Howell, Jr., the well known young doctor; Maurice Cooley, of Clay Switch, Graves county; Harry Smith, of Mayfield, were initiated with great and enthusiastic eclat, and the manner in which they ate the bite of hay proved that the Mayfield boys will all make good Elks.

Hon. L. M. Quigley and President Sam Hughes, of the City National bank, of the city, were also initiated.
Dr. J. L. Disnikes and Mr. Will J.
Foster, of Mayfield, who were initiated into the order several months ago, were present to see their Mayfield friends through.

After the initiation, which took place at midnight, the lodge adjourning and entered into a social session, presided over by Hon. Ike Quigley as chairman. Refreshments were served and everybody pronounced it one of the most interesting and enjoyable meetings the lodge ever had.

The Elks appointed the following committee last night to confer with the committee on arrangements of the Merchants' Carnival association: Messrs. J. T. Donovan, Wm. Kraus, J.
J. Read, A. W. Greif and Dr. J. B. Robertson, chairman. This is at the request of the association, which desires the Elks to have charge of the first night's entertainment, confident that they can arrange for one that will prove enjoyable to everybody, and a credit to the lodge. The committee will make a report at a called meeting of the Elks Saturday night at 7 o'clock, and will confer with the other committee at once.

NOTHING IS HEARD FROM SIMON HIMSELF, HOWEVER.
Mr. William Malone, of LaBelle park, yesterday received a letter from the young woman who claimed to be L. A. Simon's wife here. She is in St. Louis, and wanted her mail sent to her address there.
Miss Deftry, who was here with the company, but went to St. Louis, called on her, but Simon is not there, and she appears to know nothing of his whereabouts.

WEDDING IN KUTAWA.
KUTAWA, Ky., Sept. 22.—A pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. W. A. Gresham at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, the contracting parties being Mr. Albert Whittington and Miss Pearl Gresham, two of Kutawa's popular young society leaders. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. M. Russell, pastor of the M. E. church, and was witnessed by many relatives and friends of the couple.

Observations
....at Random.

There was a lady in the city yesterday who had for 36 years faithfully kept her word. This is somewhat remarkable, not particularly because she was a lady, nor because her determination remained unshaken for 36 years, nor because of the peculiar circumstances under which she formed her resolution and those under which she finally broke it.

The lady was Mrs. Ogilvie, mother in-law of the young nation trial in the court yesterday. Thirty-six years ago today she resided in the county, where she does now, and came to town. While she was here the fight sewn and the city was a pandemonium, with soldiers flying from one end of the town to the other, shells shrieking and bombs bursting everywhere and in incessant rattle of musketry.

She started as rapidly as possible for home, and prayed all the way. She belated to the good Lord that if she ever got back home she never would come to Paducah again—and she kept her word until yesterday. She had been living within a few hours ride of the city all these years, but nothing could induce her to come back until yesterday. Needless to say she found a great change in everything and especially in the condition of affairs on paper with what she left and what she found.

The most remarkable cat in the city is one at the Illinois Central dispatch-er's office. It is a large stray black cat, and is presumably the Thomas cat, although this is not certain. The cat has for some time past made his headquarters in with the dispatchers, and has become so fond of the click of the telegraph instruments that the dispatchers declare he can all when the main office here is quiet.

The feline frequently mounts the aback and dabbles with the clicking sunders and the other day actually shook the call for this office. "N." was scolded, opened the key with his paw and then stood expectantly as if waiting for the sound to be resumed. When the dispatcher saw what his unbidden assistant had done, however, he gaving him a cuff that discouraged for the time being, at least, all the cat's telegraphic ambitions. He bids fair to become in time a good "mascot," if not operator.

Dr. J. H. Stewart is called "parson" by several of his acquaintances on the market. Yesterday one addressed him as "parson." An old fellow who overheard him came slouching up in a few minutes and remarked:
"Preacher, be you?"
"They call me 'parson' sometimes," replied the doctor evasively.

"Unhappily," he and he chawed with measured strokes and finally ejected a charge gob on the floor.
"What church?" he asked.
"Baptist," and the doctor began to become amused at the old fellow's reduplicity.

"I've ailed had a hankerin' after the Baptist church I lost my pore old mother. She was a Baptist, ye know." No, the doctor didn't know, but he was sorry the old man had lost his mother and sorry that his hankerin' after the Baptists wasn't stronger.
"Where's your church?" he asked the doctor.
